

Hi {{client_name}},

In the current climate, it's more important than ever for you to be thinking about your cash flow, and we're here to help. That's why we've decided to work with Float to provide low-cost cash flow forecasting support to our clients.

A crucial element of running a business is thinking about and planning for the 'What ifs' that inevitably arise.

By building a cash flow forecast, you'll be able to:

- See when cash gaps may be coming up
- Understand the impact of customers paying you late
- See what would happen if you delayed paying some bills
- Create scenarios for different possible outcomes in this uncertain time

All the best,
